- ◆ Demonstrate knowledge of the fundamental principles in business in the functional areas of accounting, information systems, finance, management, and marketing.
- ◆ Demonstrate knowledge of the legal, social, economic environments of business.
- ◆ Demonstrate knowledge of the global dimension of business.
- ◆ Integrate the functional areas of business in the process of decision making.
- ◆ Demonstrate the ability to professionally communicate.

FACULTY

The professors have a wide variety of real-world professional experience in their chosen fields and make it a priority to help students understand how various theoretical concepts apply to actual practice. Faculty members work closely with the students, whether in the classroom, in student organizations, or as advisors and maintain a constant focus on preparing students for their future careers.

ACADEMIC FACILITIES

Our academic facilities include academic buildings centered around both lecture and project/lab-based learning, a library and learning commons, and various student support offices. The Shields School of Business is housed in the newly renovated Schwab Hall.

SPECIAL STUDY OPPORTUNITIES

At SFU, students are challenged to “Become that Someone.” Within the Shields School of Business, our innovative Backpack to Briefcase program provides development opportunities and experiences for our incoming business students to become business professionals! The program, based on the high-impact practices in undergraduate business education augments traditional business coursework with career development experiences. Some of the transformational experiences are embedded with the curriculum and some are optional allowing students to design their own path to “Become that Someone.” Some of the opportunities in the Backpack to Briefcase program are listed below.

School of Business Co-Curricular Opportunities:

- National award-winning ENACTUS program which typically places in the top 15% nationally of approximately 400 competing universities
- Society for Economic Analysis and The Fed Challenge Team - these organizations focusing on the economy complete annually against top-tier universities including several ivy league schools
- The Investment Club manages a real investment portfolio of over $50,000
- The Francis Fund - a student-run micro-lending club which grants loans domestically and internationally

Business Professional Networking Opportunities:

- Executive-In-Residence program
- School of Business Student-Alumni Mentorship program
- Career Services hosts mock interviews, career fairs, resume review sessions, on-site interviews, and access to national career and internship search software

Small Business and Academic Centers:

- SFU hosts one of Pennsylvania’s 18 Small Business Development Centers (SBDC) allowing students to interact with real-life clients through client-based counseling coursework or placements at the SBDC itself.
- Shields School of Business houses the Knee Center for the Study of Occupational Regulation which provides paid research opportunities for business students.

International Travel Opportunities:

- Shields School of Business sponsors the Springtime in London international excursion which focuses on international business topics and will soon be piloting another excursion trip to Asia in the near future.

Backpack to Briefcase Results:

- Over the past 5 years, over 98% of School of Business graduates have been gainfully employed or enrolled in graduate school within one year of graduation.
- Exit survey results indicate that over 99% of School of Business graduates feel prepared for their respective careers upon graduation.

TRANSFORMATIONAL EXPERIENCES

At SFU, the highest level of academic programming blends your curricular and co-curricular worlds into a holistic experience.

- ◆ Study Abroad: The Shields School of Business offers the international Spring Break in London course annually to undergraduate and graduate students. The group travels to London and gains unparalleled international business experiences. Students can also take advantage of the many study abroad opportunities the University offers including a full-semester immersion experience at the University's facility in Ambialet, France or shorter experiences in Italy, Costa Rica, and many other locations.
- ◆ Internships: Business internships are an important way to apply classroom learning in a professional environment. SFU has established relationships with many businesses across several industries that offer students internship opportunities. These internships not only serve as an excellent professional development experience but many lead to full-time job offers.
- ◆ Student Research: Many business classes work hands-on with real-life business clients performing market research, business planning, and other consulting functions. As well, the Shields School of Business is home to the Knee Center for the Study of Occupational Regulation (CSOR), the nation's only research facility devoted to the topic. Students will have the opportunity to participate in research that has been cited by the White House, Federal Trade Commission, and U.S. Senate.
- ◆ Leadership Experiences: We're always looking for leaders and potential leaders that are motivated by both challenges and accomplishment. The Shields School of Business is home to several active business clubs and organizations that will allow you to explore and develop leadership skills in areas related to your business discipline.
- ◆ Community Service: Our students volunteer thousands of hours each year by participating in community service projects as individuals and as groups. Service to others is embedded in the culture of our University.
- ◆ Campus Ministry: Campus Ministry seeks to assist all students on their spiritual journey, helping them realize and become the person that God has created them to be.
